FRANK Mc CARTHY
DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC RELATIONS

May 12, 1959

Dear Mr. Dulles:

It was pleasant to get a glimpse of you last Wednesday evening, although I regretted not having the opportunity for more than an exchange of greetings.

My wish was to add an expression of sorrow at the illness of your brother, together with an expression of the gratitude I feel for his tremendous contribution to our national security and progress during these past years. It takes real faith not to question why he and General Marshall should be subjected to suffering after their unselfish years of devotion to services for the good of all mankind.

Please remember me to Clover and Joan when you see them. I remember very pleasantly a dinner at your house during a period in which Clover was serving briefly as my secretary in Nelson Rockefeller's office, and I enjoyed seeing Joan on several trips to Vienna in the early fifties.

With congratulations on your own admirable service, and best regards always,

Sincerely,

Frank McCarthy
